

General Data Protection Notice for Business Partners

In the course of our business relationship with you, it is necessary for us to process your personal data. "Personal data" is any information that relates to an identified or identifiable natural person (e.g. names and addresses).

Protecting the security and privacy of personal data of our business partners (such as customers and suppliers) is very important to voestalpine Rohstoffbeschaffungs GmbH, Stahlstraße 21, A-4020 Linz and its subsidiary (together "voestalpine"). We are obligated to protect your data and take this duty very seriously. We expect the same from our business partners.

Please find enclosed a summary of the processing of personal data of business partners:

1. Categories of personal data processed, purpose of the processing and legal basis

In the context of the business relationship with business partners, voestalpine may process personal data for the following purposes:

- » Communicating with business partners about products, services and projects, e.g. to process inquiries from business partners;
- » Initiate, process and manage (contractual) relationships and maintain business relationships between voestalpine and the business partner, e.g. to process orders for products or services, to process payments, for accounting, billing and collection purposes, to make deliveries, to carry out maintenance activities and repairs;
- » Conducting customer surveys, marketing campaigns, market analysis, sweepstakes, contests, and other promotional activities or events;
- » Maintaining and protecting the security of our products, services and websites, preventing and detecting security threats, fraud and other criminal or malicious activities;
- » Fulfilling statutory obligations, such as accounting, financial reporting and preparing balance sheets as well as ensuring compliance with (i) legal obligations (such as record keeping obligations in accordance with tax and commercial law), and (ii) voestalpine policies;
- » Settling disputes, enforcing our contractual agreements and establishing, exercising or defending legal claims.

For the aforementioned purposes, voestalpine may process the following categories of personal data:

- » Business contact information, such as name, work address, work telephone number and email address;
- » Payment data, such as data necessary for processing payments or fraud prevention, including credit card numbers and card security codes;
- » Meta/communications data (e.g. IP addresses);
- » Information collected from publicly available sources, information databases and credit agencies;

- » Other information that has to be processed to initiate, process and manage (contractual) relationships and maintain business relationships or that you voluntarily provide, such as orders placed, advertising and sales data, order details, inquiries or project details, correspondence, other data pertaining to the business relationship.

Your personal data can be stored in a Customer Relationship Management System (“CRM System”) or a comparable organizational tool.

The processing of personal data is necessary to meet the aforementioned purposes including the performance of a contractual relationship or a pre-contractual activity with the business partner. However, we will only process personal data to the extent necessary. In individual cases, less than the aforementioned data may suffice.

Unless otherwise indicated, the legal basis for the processing of personal data is Article 6 (1) (a), (b), (c) and (f) of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR):

- » your consent (Article 6 (1) (a) GDPR);
- » processing is necessary for the performance of a contract to which the data subject is party or for pre-contractual measures (Article 6 (1) (b) GDPR);
- » processing is necessary to meet legal obligations (Article 6 (1) (c) GDPR); and
- » processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by the controller or by a third party (Article 6 (1) (f) GDPR). The legitimate interests are to achieve the purposes set out above.

If aforementioned personal data is not provided or is insufficient or if voestalpine cannot collect the respective personal data the purposes described may not be met or the received inquiry/inquiries could not be processed. Note that this would not be considered failure to fulfill our obligations under a contract.

2. Transfer and disclosure of personal data

If legally permitted to do so, voestalpine may transfer personal data to other voestalpine Group companies (www.voestalpine.com/locations) or courts, authorities, attorneys, or other business partners (for example shipping and logistics partners for executing and processing orders).

Furthermore voestalpine engages processors (service providers) to process personal data (within the scope of an IT support contract, for example). These processors are contractually bound to act in compliance with applicable data protection regulations.

Recipients of personal data may be located in countries outside of the European Union (“third countries”), in which applicable laws do not offer the same level of data protection as the laws of the respective individual’s home country. In this case, according to the legal requirements personal data is only transferred if the European Commission has adopted an adequacy decision for the third country, if adequate safeguards have been agreed (e.g. EU Standard Contractual Clauses were concluded), the recipient participates in an approved certification system (e.g. EU-US Privacy Shield), binding corporate rules are implemented in accordance with Art. 47 of the General Data Protection Regulation or there is a derogation for specific situations in accordance with Art. 49 of the General Data Protection Regulation (e.g. because you explicitly consented to the proposed transfer, after having been informed of the possible risks of such transfers for the data subject due to the absence of an adequacy decision and appropriate safeguards). Further information and a copy of the implemented measures can be obtained from the contact listed under 6.

3. Retention periods

Unless explicitly indicated otherwise at the time of the collection of your personal data (e.g. in a declaration of consent), your personal data will be erased or anonymized if the retention of the personal data is no longer necessary to fulfill the purposes for which they were collected and if no statutory retention obligations (such as tax or commercial law) or establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims require us to further retain the data.

4. Right of access to and rectification or erasure of personal data, restriction of processing, right to object to processing, right to data portability and right to withdraw explicitly granted consent

- » In accordance with Art. 15 GDPR, you have the right to obtain from the controller confirmation as to whether or not personal data concerning you are being processed and access to information about this data.
- » In accordance with Art. 16 GDPR, you have the right to obtain without undue delay the rectification of inaccurate personal data and to have incomplete personal data completed.
- » In accordance with Art. 17 GDPR, you have the right to erasure of your personal data.
- » In accordance with Art. 18 GDPR, you have the right to restrict processing.
- » In accordance with Art. 20 GDPR, you have the right to data portability.
- » In accordance with Art. 21 GDPR, you have the right to object to the processing of personal data.
- » Finally, you are entitled to file a complaint with the supervisory authority.
- » If processing of your personal data is based on your consent, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. The withdrawal of consent shall not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal.

In order for us to efficiently respond to such a request, we ask you to contact us using the contact data listed below and to provide us with confirmation of your identity, for example, by sending us an electronic copy of your ID.

5. Protection of your personal data

The security of your personal data is extremely important to us. We take specific measures to protect your personal data against loss, misuse, unauthorized access, manipulation or disclosure, including the following:

- » Limited access to our premises (access control)
- » Implementation of access rights and protection of media (access and transfer control)
- » Deployment of network security measures such as antivirus software, firewalls, security updates, etc. (network control)

All processors engaged by us are bound by our security concept and are obligated to adhere to similar or equal security measures.

6. Contact

If you have questions regarding data protection matters or wish to assert your aforementioned rights, please contact the voestalpine company with which you have a business relationship, i.e. the “controller” within the meaning of Art. 4 No. 7 GDPR:
